Reflections:	I learned several new teaching strategies in the kindergarten classroom that I was able to incorporate into my lessons. The lessons I taught included both whole group and small groups.
Overall Rating:	Proficient
Reflections:	I was able to teach a few guided reading groups each day which required me to differentiate my instruction depending on the level of the group. I used a variety of instructional strategies to help students correctly spell their sight words and successfully read their assigned book.
Overall Rating:	Proficient
Reflections:	In order to teach multiple lessons and lead the guided reading groups, I had to plan my instruction prior to teaching. I communicated with my teacher about the strategies and routines that work well with her students. I was also able to attend a pep-rally, lunch pot-luck, and PLC meeting with my practicum teacher and other teachers in the school.
